May 2015

It's hard to believe that we have been on the road for nine months now. We are just wrapping up our second trip out to the east coast. We head back to the midwest in about a week and a half. Since our last letter we have added two more supporters leaving us just shy of 50% of our needed support.

While we were out this way we took a couple of days off to visit our nation's capital before heading to a missions conference near Baltimore, MD. We are so blessed to live in a country where we can own a Bible, we can preach the Gospel, and where we have families in churches that are third, fourth and fifth generation Christian families. I have grown up in an age where from the time of my birth the Gospel has been available to me through the air waves of both radio and television, in written form, on billboards, or being boldly proclaimed on a street corner somewhere. Sometimes we forget how blessed we are with the access we have to the Word of God. Shame on us for shouting about the King James Bible but never thanking God for it or bothering to read it.

God also gave us an extra special blessing during this trip by allowing us to see some very dear friends of ours. While watching a video of our good friend, Evangelist Ken McDonald, I started thinking, "Lord, I would love to see them again, but between their schedule and ours, we may never see them again this side of Glory." God answered my non-prayer with the McDonalds being at the same church as we were the very next day. Brother Ken and Sister Terri have been good friends of ours for many years and it brought joy to my heart to see them again. We even got to spend some great fellowship time over a high class lunch at Burger King (I know what you're thinking...why Burger King...it's a long story, but simply put, it's tradition).

We will be heading to the field in May of next year. We are praying for the Lord to raise up a translator for me while preaching next year. Also, if you would pray that God would allow us to learn the language quickly.

Thank you for your continued financial support and especially for your prayers. God has certainly shown himself faithful and I believe it is in direct answer to your prayers.

In Christ,
Jeff and Grace Shergalis
